Private Offering Notice

Summary Terms

The securities:

o No interest payments over the term of the securities; however, in no event will investors receive less than $11.00 per $10.00 principal amount at maturity.

o Payment at maturity is linked to the monthly percentage changes in the values of the S&P 500 Index during the term of the securities, subject to a maximum percentage increase per month as described in the prospectus supplement.

o The minimum initial investment in the securities is US$50,000.

o The maturity date is expected to fall between February 2008 and August 2008. The actual maturity date will be determined on the date the securities are priced for initial sale to the public and will be disclosed in the final prospectus supplement delivered in connection with sales of the securities.

o Expected settlement date: May , 2003.

Payment at maturity:

o The amount investors receive at maturity will be based upon the sum of the monthly returns of the S&P 500 Index during the term of the securities. The amount payable at maturity on each unit of the securities will equal the greater of (i) $11.00 or (ii) $10.00 plus the product of $10.00 multiplied by the sum of the monthly percentage changes of the S&P 500 Index over the term of the securities as described below.

o The monthly percentage changes in the value of the S&P 500 Index are calculated for each month over the term of the securities, as described in the prospectus supplement, and are subject to a maximum monthly percentage increase of 4%. Therefore, the maximum amount investors could receive at maturity is expected to be between $32.80 and $35.20 per unit depending upon the final maturity date. However, in order for investors to receive this maximum amount, the value of the S&P 500 Index must increase by at least 4% per month throughout the term of the securities, which we consider very unlikely to happen. The monthly percentage decreases in the value of the S&P 500 Index are not subject to any limit. However, in no event will investors receive less than $11.00 for each unit of the securities.
