THE UNDERLYING INDEX

All disclosures contained in this pricing supplement regarding the Underlying Index, including, without limitation, its make-up, method of calculation, and changes in its components, have been derived from publicly available sources. The information reflects the policies of, and is subject to change by, Bloomberg Finance L.P. Bloomberg Finance L.P. has no obligation to continue to publish, and may discontinue publication of, the Underlying Index. The consequences of Bloomberg Finance L.P. discontinuing publication of the Underlying Index are discussed in the section of product supplement CLN-1 entitled “Description of the Notes—Discontinuance of an Underlying Index” beginning on page S-27. None of us, the calculation agent, or MLPF&S accepts any responsibility for the calculation, maintenance, or publication of the Underlying Index or any successor index.

On April 10, 2014, Bloomberg Finance L.P. acquired the Dow Jones-UBS Commodity IndexesSM. The indexes were renamed from the “Dow Jones-UBS Commodity Index Family” to the “Bloomberg Commodity Index Family” on July 1, 2014, and their tickers were changed from “DJUBS” tickers to “BCOM” tickers. Both sets of tickers were available until July 31, 2014, and DJUBS tickers were discontinued thereafter.

The Bloomberg Commodity Index 2 Month Forward Total ReturnSM reflects the return on a fully collateralized investment in the Bloomberg Commodity Index 2 Month ForwardSM (“BCOMF2”), which is a two-month forward version of the Bloomberg Commodity IndexSM. The Underlying Index is fully collateralized because it combines the returns of the BCOMF2 with the returns on cash collateral invested in U.S. Treasury Bills. The Bloomberg Commodity IndexSM (“BCOM”) is a proprietary index that was established on July 14, 1998 by Dow Jones & Company, Inc. (“Dow Jones”) and UBS AG (“UBS”) to provide a liquid and diversified benchmark for commodities investments. The Underlying Index is also designed to be a “tradable” index that is readily accessible to market participants. The BCOMF2 tracks the returns of rolling commodities futures contracts. The BCOMF2 is currently comprised of futures contracts on 22 physical commodities. The 22 commodities that currently comprise the Underlying Index (the “Index Commodities”) are: aluminum, Brent crude oil, coffee, copper, corn, cotton, gold, lean hogs, live cattle, natural gas, nickel, silver, soybean meal, soybean oil, soybeans, sugar, unleaded gasoline, ULS diesel, wheat, HRW wheat, WTI crude oil and zinc.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, UBS AG, UBS Securities and their respective subsidiaries and affiliates may independently issue and/or sponsor financial products unrelated to the Notes currently being issued by Licensee, but which may be similar to and competitive with the Notes. In addition, UBS AG, UBS Securities and their subsidiaries and affiliates actively trade commodities, commodity indexes and commodity futures (including the Bloomberg Commodity IndexSM and the Underlying Index), as well as swaps, options and derivatives which are linked to the performance of such commodities, commodity indexes and commodity futures. It is possible that this trading activity will affect the value of the Underlying Index and the Notes.

This pricing supplement relates only to the Notes and does not relate to the exchange-traded physical commodities underlying any of the Underlying Index components. Purchasers of the Notes should not conclude that the inclusion of a futures contract in the Underlying Index is any form of investment recommendation of the futures contract or the underlying exchange-traded physical commodity by Bloomberg, UBS AG, UBS Securities or any of their subsidiaries or affiliates. The information in this pricing supplement regarding the Underlying Index components has been derived solely from publicly available documents. None of Bloomberg, UBS AG, UBS Securities or any of their subsidiaries or affiliates has made any due diligence inquiries with
